DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-8, 13 and 49 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The claimed invention is allowable over the prior art on record, Wetzer et al. (PGPub 2004/0162811) in view of Kocur (US Patent #5,913,201), Jacobs US Patent #7,346,531) and Crici et al. (PGPub 2005/0027580) in view of the arguments presented by the Applicant in the response filed October 17, 2008.

Specifically, none of the cited references teach or suggest the combination of assigning resources to multiple proposals having the same time availability, configuring a scheduling server computer by any of a plurality of different business entities to permit customized scheduling configurations for appointments as used by each entity, automatically creating for each particular business entity which has input data for configuring the scheduling of its jobs, a plurality of proposals for each business entity that specify when each job as configured by the operator for each business entity might be scheduled during a defined time period, the plurality of proposals being created as a function of the time availability of each resource that can be used to perform each service needed to perform each job and the time dependency of each service, and using a scheduling computer to automatically revise one or more other proposals in response to said selected proposal used to make said appointment for doing the particular job at the particular business entity, the revising of the one or more other proposals including, revising the one or more other proposals so as to remove from the one or more other proposals any of the tagged resources no longer available due to making the appointment for doing the particular job at the particular business entity, and eliminating any of the one or more other proposals which cannot be revised due to the tagged resources no longer being available.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
